Each of us has a different perception of the situation based on our experiences and the context of our work yet we share a common ground.

Each student is an individual with an illuminating story about “how and why” but themes emerge.

Code of Academic Honesty

Honesty is an essential value of our academic community.

You are here to learn, and learning depends upon hard work and academic honesty.

Your instructors set high standards and expect you to do your very best, completing your work honestly.

Any student who registers for courses in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has, in essence, agreed to the value of learning and thus to the importance of the College's Code of Academic Honesty.

"I pledge to do my own academic work and to excel to the best of my abilities, upholding the IOWA Challenge. I promise not to lie about my academic work, to cheat, or to steal the words or ideas of others, nor will I help fellow students to violate the Code of Academic Honesty."

STUDENTS WHO CHOOSE NOT TO LIVE UP TO THE CODE ARE ASKED TO LEAVE THE COLLEGE.

Academic Integrity Seminar

A Student Development Resource

The Seminar

The Academic Integrity Seminar is a demanding, personalized online seminar administered to students at colleges and universities across the country.

The Seminar is used for ethical development programming, honor council and hearing board training, and as remediation for violations of university honor codes and codes of conduct.

The Seminar is designed to examine the importance of trust, self-discipline, and mutual obligation to individuals and societies.

Seminars are conducted entirely online through personalized e-mail interaction between students and tutors. Students are usually assigned by referring educational institutions.
